"Sweetness in the Belly"

Sweetness in the Belly is a love story set against the backdrop of the 1974 revolution in Ethiopia, when Haile Selassie's empire was brought to its dramatic end. The novel moves between a walled Muslim city in Ethiopia and a community of refugees struggling to build meaningful new lives for themselves in Thatcher's Britain. It tells the heartbreaking story of a white Muslim nurse's search for her missing lover – an idealistic young Ethiopian doctor named Aziz.

Gibb has a PhD in social anthropology from Oxford University, for which she conducted fieldwork in Ethiopia in the mid 1990s. In addition to writing novels she writes short stories, essays, articles and reviews, serves as Vice President of PEN Canada and is currently Writer-In-Residence at the University of Toronto.

Introduced by Arjun Basu, Editor in Chief, EnRoute magazine.
